'But I will raise up for Myself a faithful priest who will do according to what is in My heart and in My soul; and I will build him an enduring house, and he will walk before My anointed always. - 1 Samuel 2:35

The immediate context for the Scripture is referring to God's judgment on the house of Eli because of the sins of his sons, Hophni and Phinehas. Samuel would be chosen as a prophet/priest to lead and judge Israel till the time of King Saul, and eventually King David, from whom the Messiah would come. And, it is through Jesus that this prophecy is ultimately fulfilled. We are part of that enduring house as the body of Christ. God has given us an anointing to grow the body of Christ. No matter what is happening around us — disease, social and political unrest—we continue to preach and live out the Good News! There is no peace without Jesus. Yes, we still minister to the sick and the disenfranchised, the orphan and the widow, the prostitute and the publican. Everyone needs salvation and the grace of God.

Some volunteers graciously helped us replace our old, inefficient lights with new, brighter LED lights. The campus of FCM has been such a blessing to have during this time, since both of the Native churches we work with have had meetings in our chapel. The usual facilities have been closed and we have had three or more services every week to accommodate those who can come and the rest are watching through streaming on the internet. Above, I am ministering at our Friday Night service. We have services at 7 PM, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights and also Sunday morning. We still pray for the sick and preach salvation at every service. You never know who is in need, even if watching online.

Planning outreaches this summer is difficult because the state of Alaska is still requiring a quarantine of 14 days for anyone entering the state, for both foreign and domestic travelers. Or, you have to provide an anti-body test that is recent. Of course, this makes it quite difficult for anyone to have enough time to come and minister on the usual outreaches we have to villages in the summer. So, we are praying for creative ideas and God's leading for ministry. All of the board and staff are committed to continue ministering in all capacities and welcome every opportunity. Your support makes a difference. Thank you for your prayers as well.
