"Do you not say, 'There are yet four months, and [then] comes the harvest'? Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look on the fields, that they are white for harvest. - John 4:35

The harvest is truly white. They are so many in need as the world is entering into deadly conflicts across the globe. Politicians, governments and financial aide will not solve humanity’s problems —only a change of heart that comes from knowing Christ. We know that it will not improve until Jesus returns but we can be His witness and reap the harvest while there is time.

Evangelist Peter Rahme preached at Golden Heart on October 15th. He is an evangelist from South Africa. Before he became a believer, his life was spared many times. He was in several car accidents, shot and stabbed, along with being a drug addict and alcoholic. But God delivered him from them all. He began witnessing with His church street evangelism team and eventual held revivals all over the world with 100,000 documented salvations. He inspired us to believe for a great move in Alaska. God has not forgotten any of us. It’s His will for us to “do the work of an evangelist” even as Paul instructed Timothy (2 Timothy 4:5). It’s not the job of a special few, but every believer is to be a witness. If you don’t know what to say, just start with your testimony and be ready to pray for those around you.

As you can see from this view of my driveway, we already have enough snow on the ground that I had to have it plowed. It really doesn’t drop below freezing now, so the snow will accumulate till May when it melts. We also have to plow the YWAM and FCM properties throughout the winter.

I attended a special breakfast celebrating 20 years of ministry for Mountain Movers in Fairbanks, Alaska. This is one of the Native Churches I attend every Sunday morning, pastored by Craig Nicholia. He recently visited churches they support in India. We endeavor to support these ministries, even as you support us.

November 5th is the 9th year since my husband Dale Thurlby passed away in an automobile accident. He would be honored to know we are still carrying out the work we started when we moved here in 2009. He was a true pastor/evangelist/missionary and knew that Alaska would be his final work. We don’t all have to travel the world, but can start with our own family, neighborhood and city. I pray our eyes are open to the harvest around us and that we have wisdom from the Spirit of God to reap that harvest — the time is short.

Joyce Thurlby*
